Allison Moore

'Virginia's Comedienne'

Founder & CEO

MooreLaughing Consulting & Black please. Coffee

Allison Moore

Clean Comedian, Speaker and Entrepreneur, Allison Moore is known for her ability to find inspiration and comedy in literally anything! In addition to being a hilarious story teller, Allison is also a Businesswoman. She is Principal of MooreLaughing Consulting and the founder of the startup company, Black please. Coffee.

Prior to becoming an Entrepreneur, Allison spent 10+ years as a Human Resources professional in Industrial Manufacturing and Public Education. Allison quickly realized that the same challenges that stunted the growth of women and minorities in Corporate America were also prevalent in the worlds of Business and Venture Capital. This led her to aligning herself with events, organizations and missions dedicated to supporting the work of equity, diversity, inclusion and financial literacy for marginalized communities and aspiring entrepreneurs.

Allison supports Event Organizers and Executive Leaders with clean comedy, event hosting, inspirational talks or employee engagement services. Referred to as 'Everybody's Hype Girl' and 'The Coolest Cornball', Allison brings the funny, the energy and the positivity that keeps an event or workplace upbeat and exciting for all participants (she also brings coffee so the caffeine is an extra perk)!

'Coffee Break' Series

w/Allison Moore and Jim Franklin

'Virginia's Comedienne' & Investment Banker

Allison Moore (Black, Millennial, Comedienne from Virginia) and Jim Franklin (White, Baby Boomer, Investment Banker and Veteran from Mississippi) have uniquely partnered and developed a "Coffee Break" series. Over coffee (and with a lot of laughs), the two use their friendship to have real and honest conversations around business, racism, employee morale and money. It's the conversation amongst friends that needs to be had in today's time!

Grab a coffee mug and meet Jim and Allison at the CVMSDC - 2021 BOC as they discuss:
